PREFACE

SBS is the Saudi Billing System. SBS Third Edition supersedes the Second Edition (2024).

The SBS Third Edition was developed by the Council of Health Insurance (CHI), in alignment with the standards of the Saudi Health Council,

The Saudi Billing System (SBS) is a modification of the Australian Classification of Health Interventions (ACHI), modified and enhanced to serve the Saudi health insurance market for classification and billing purposes.

The SBS standardises the coding reporting and billing of services, interventions, and procedures in both admitted and non-admitted healthcare settings, providing improved and transparent healthcare delivery.

The Classification System has these components:

- The International Statistical Classification of Diseases and Related Health Problems, Tenth Revision, Australian Modification (ICD-10-AM), the Australian Classification of Health Interventions (ACHI) the Saudi Billing System (S-CHI), the Australian Coding Standards (ACS), and the Saudi Billing System Coding Standards (SBSCS)

The CHI invites public submissions for modifications to SBS through the CHI website (www.chi.gov.sa). The main objective of the public submission process is to ensure that SBS meets the needs of users throughout the health care system and continues to be a comprehensive and meaningful classification. Suggested modifications are considered with extensive advice and representation from appropriate users for regular maintenance and updates.

The Third Edition of the SBS Alphabetic Index is contained herein.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

INTRODUCTION

The Alphabetic Index of the Saudi Billing System (SBS) is an alphabetical index to the SBS Tabular List of procedures, interventions, and services.

The Alphabetical Index of the procedures and services is important because it contains many more procedural terms than appear in the SBS Tabular List of procedures, interventions, and services.

The SBS Alphabetical Index and the SBS Tabular List of codes are designed to be used together. It is not recommended that the Alphabetic Index or Tabular List be used separately. Once a code is located in the index, the code should then be checked in the Tabular List for important instructions such as "includes" and "excludes" notes, and guidelines which provide instruction and guidance on the use of additional codes, sequencing, and exclusion notes that indicate rules such as when a procedure would be coded elsewhere.

CONVENTIONS USED IN THE ALPHABETIC INDEX OF INTERVENTIONS

LEAD TERMS

The Alphabetic Index of Interventions is organised by 'lead terms' which are printed in bold type face for ease of reference. Lead terms usually identify the type of procedure performed, rather than the anatomic site involved. Lead terms start at the extreme left of a column, with various levels of indentation, which start progressively further right. Therefore, a complete index term may be composed of several lines, sometimes quite widely separated.

BLOCKS

The Saudi Billing System (SBS) is based on item numbers in the Australian Classification of Health Interventions (ACHI) and is structured on an anatomical basis, the code numbers do not always appear in numerical order within the Tabular List of Interventions. A third level axis, called a block, has been introduced. Blocks are numbered sequentially in the Tabular List of Interventions to assist in locating a specific code. Block numbers in the index appear in bold and are located to the right of the code, separated from the code by brackets.

SEQUENCE

Lead terms are sequenced alphabetically.

Spaces, symbols, and numbers precede alphabetic letters. Numbers, whether Arabic or Roman, are sequenced numerically before alphabetic characters.

EXAMPLE 1:

Test, testing (for) NEC (see also Investigation) 92204-00-00 [1866]

- absorption
- - radioactive B₁₂
- - - 1 isotope 12512-00-00 [1863]
- - - 2 isotopes 12515-00-00 [1863]

Hyphens appear in the Alphabetic Index of Interventions to indicate levels of indentation of sub-entries in the Index.

EXAMPLE 2:

Hypothermia

- deep 22075-00-00 [642]
- - with
- - - cardiac arrest, induced 22075-00-00 [642]
- - - cerebral perfusion (antegrade) (retrograde) 38577-00-00 [642]
- - - circulatory arrest, induced 22075-00-00 [642]

PREPOSITIONAL TERMS

Wherever a preposition from the list below immediately follows a lead term or subterm, it always takes precedence over symbols, numbers, and the alphabetic sequence of subterms:

- as
- by
- for
- with
- without

EXAMPLE 3:

Flap (repair)

- periodontal (per quadrant) 97232-00-10 [456]
- - for crown lengthening 97238-00-00 [456]
- - with alveolar osseous procedure (<= 8 teeth) 97233-00-10 [456]

EXAMPLE 4:

Formation

- fistula
- - arteriovenous
- - - with
- - - - graft, vein 34512-00-00 [765] *
- - - - prosthesis (Gore-tex) 34512-01-00 [765]
- - - limb (extremity)
- - - - lower 34509-00-00 [765] **
- - - - upper 34509-01-00 [765]

In the above example, 'formation of an arteriovenous fistula of the lower limb with graft' would be assigned code 34512-00-00 [765] * rather than code 34509-00-00 [765]  because entries under 'with' take precedence over the alphabetic sub-term of 'limb'.

When multiple prepositional references are present, they are listed in alphabetic sequence.

EXAMPLE 5:

Orbitotomy (exploratory), unilateral 42533-00-01 [222]

- bilateral 42533-00-02 [222]
- for
- - decompression, by removal of
- - - bone (with replacement) — see Orbitotomy/with/removal of/bone
- - - intraorbital fat (peribulbar) (retrobulbar), unilateral 42545-01-01 [224]
- - - - bilateral 42545-01-02 [224]
- - dysthyroid eye disease, by
- - - fenestration of ≥ 2 walls 42545-00-00 [227]
- - - removal of intraorbital fat (peribulbar) (retrobulbar), unilateral 42545-01-01 [224]
- - - - bilateral 42545-01-02 [224]
- with
- - biopsy, unilateral 42533-01-01 [224]
- - - bilateral 42533-01-02 [224]

- - drainage, unilateral 42533-00-01 [222]
- - - bilateral 42533-00-02 [222]
- - excision of lesion (anterior aspect), unilateral 42542-00-01 [224]
- - - bilateral 42542-00-02 [224]
- - - retrobulbar aspect, unilateral 42543-00-01 [224]
- - - - bilateral 42543-00-02 [224]

MODIFIERS

A lead term or subterm may be followed by a series of terms in parentheses. The presence or absence of these parenthetical terms in the procedure description does not affect the code selection. These are called nonessential modifiers.

EXAMPLE 6:

- Bronchoscopy (electromagnetic navigation) (with bronchial lavage) (with fluoroscopic guidance), unilateral 41889-05-01 [543]
- with
 - - Argon plasma coagulation — see Coagulation, electrocoagulation/by site
 - - biopsy (brush) (needle) (with brushing(s)) (with washing(s) for specimen collection) — see Biopsy/by site
 - - broncho-alveolar lavage (BAL), unilateral 41898-02-01 [544]
 - - destruction — see Destruction/by site
 - - dilation (stricture), unilateral 41904-00-01 [546]
 - - excision of lesion — see Excision/lesion/by site
 - - insertion of bronchial device (stent) (valve), unilateral 41905-06-01 [546]
 - - removal of
 - - - bronchial device (stent) (valve), unilateral 41905-08-01 [546]
 - - - foreign body, unilateral 41895-02-01 [544]
 - - - lesion — see Excision/lesion/by site
 - - replacement of bronchial device, unilateral(stent) (valve) 41905-07-01 [546]

A term may also be followed by a list of subterms which do have an effect upon the selection of the appropriate code for a given procedure. These are called essential modifiers. These subterms form individual line entries and describe essential differences in site or surgical technique.

EXAMPLE 7:

Clipping

- artery 34106-14-00 [697]
- - axillary, unilateral 34103-11-01 [697]
- - - bilateral 34103-11-02 [697]
- - - for aneurysm 33070-00-00 [714]
- - - - ruptured 33175-00-00 [714]
- - brachial, unilateral 34106-10-01 [697]
- - - bilateral 34106-10-02 [697]
- - - for aneurysm 33070-00-00 [714]
- - - - ruptured 33175-00-00 [714]
- - cardiac collateral (open) 38700-03-00 [691]
- - - percutaneous (closed) 38700-02-00 [691]

NOT ELSEWHERE CLASSIFIED (NEC)

NEC is used for two purposes which can only be determined by referring to the Tabular List of Interventions:

1. With ill-defined terms as a warning that specified forms of the procedure are classified differently. The codes given for such terms should be used only if more precise information is not available.
2. Terms for which a more specific category is not provided in the Tabular List, and no amount of additional information will alter the selection of the code.

UNLISTED PROCEDURE CODES

Where a procedure is not in the index, use the unlisted code for this type of procedure.

The ACHI terms Not Elsewhere Classified (NEC) and Not Otherwise Specified (NOS) are documented as Unlisted in SBS.

Unlisted codes are found in the index under the name of the type of procedure, with a first-level modifier – unlisted.

CROSS REFERENCES/INSTRUCTIONAL REFERENCES

Before ACHI Eighth Edition cross references in the Alphabetic Index used commas to separate lead terms and subterms in an alternate index pathway. From Eighth Edition these commas have been replaced with slashes as follows:

EXAMPLE 8:

Ablation

- arrhythmia circuit or focus — see Ablation, cardiac

is shown as:

Ablation

- arrhythmia circuit or focus — see Ablation/cardiac

See/see also

See and see also cross references provide the user with possible modifiers for a term or its synonyms. They are used to avoid unnecessary duplication of terms in the index. There are three types of cross references:

1. 'see' is an explicit direction to look elsewhere. It is used to force the user to an alternate index pathway.

EXAMPLE 9:

CAT (computerised axial tomography) — see Tomography/computerised

2. 'see also' directs the user to another index pathway where there are options that may provide more specificity.

EXAMPLE 10:

Adhesiolysis — see also Division/adhesions

- epidural (peridural) 39140-00-00 [32]

EXAMPLE 11

Radiography (diagnostic) 90909-00-00 [1988]

- bone — see also Radiography/by specific site

3. 'see block [xxxx]' directs the user to the Tabular List for further information or specific site references.

EXAMPLE 12:

Assistance

- endotracheal respiratory — see block [569]

Omit code

The omit code instruction can apply to terms which identify incisions that are listed as lead terms in the Alphabetic Index of Interventions. If the incision was made only for the purpose of performing further surgery, the instruction omit code is given.

EXAMPLE 13:

Arthrotomy (with lavage), unilateral 50103-00-01 [1555]

- bilateral 50103-00-02 [1555]

- as operative approach — omit code

- ankle, unilateral 49706-00-01 [1529]

- - bilateral 49706-00-02 [1529]

- elbow, unilateral 49100-00-01 [1410]

- - bilateral 49100-00-02 [1410]

- hip 49303-00-00 [1481]

Omit code instructions can also apply to certain procedures which, when performed with other procedures, should not be coded.

EXAMPLE 14:

Cardioversion 13400-00-00 [1890]

- in conjunction with cardiac surgery — omit code

Code-specific procedure(s) performed

This instruction is rarely used in the Alphabetic Index. It appears in those instances where it is necessary to code each individual component of a procedure, and these are not specifically listed at this lead term.

EXAMPLE 15:

Amputation

- ear — code specific procedure(s) performed

- nose — code specific procedure(s) performed

EPONYMS

Procedures named after people (eponyms) are listed both as lead terms in their appropriate alphabetic sequence and under the lead term 'procedure'. A description of the procedure or anatomic site affected usually follows the eponym.

EXAMPLE 16:

Darrach procedure (osteotomy of ulna), unilateral 48406-04-01 [1424]

- bilateral 48406-04-02 [1424]
